

DR. BAIL ANNOUNCES ONE-WAY STREETS

This drawing diagrams the new one-way street system which will go into effect Monday morning on the Omaha University campus. The directions of the streets are indicated by arrows. The dotted lines along 60th Street by the Administration Building designate the additional parking spaces that will be available under this plan. The dotted area near the Happy Hollow Boulevard entrance shows how that area will eventually be enlarged to accommodate heavy traffic.

A one-way street system is scheduled to go into effect on the University of Omaha campus Monday morning.

Dr. Milo Bail, president of the University, and Bert Whedon of the Omaha Traffic Bureau met Tuesday in an effort to find a plan to alleviate the crowded traffic conditions experienced during the busy campus traffic hours.

Dr. Bail said the traffic signs should be posted by Monday to designate the changes. However, if the signs are not installed by Monday, the system will not be in effect at that time.

The map at left diagrams how the system will work.

Dr. Bail described the plan this way—

—60th Street (which passes directly east of the Administration Building) will be one way north.

Cars cannot enter the campus on this street—it will be solely for exits. However, traffic may enter the campus on the Elmwood Park Road, which will remain two way.

Cars will move two abreast on the new one-way streets.

More parking space will be gained by the system. Free parallel parking places will be made on the west side of the one-way portion of 60th Street. This will accommodate approximately 25 cars.

The hazard markers, barring left turns off Dodge Street, will be arranged in a circle to keep traffic from entering on the campus branch of 60th Street and to direct them onto Elmwood Park Road.

—62nd Street (which runs between the Student Center and the Library) will be two way from Dodge Street as far as the walkway south of the Library. After that point, 62nd Street will be one way going south to the circle near the Fieldhouse.

This will enable students to enter the campus from Dodge to the parking areas around the Library. Cars parked in this area will then be able to leave the campus at 62nd Street.

—64th Street will remain two way. Motorists may enter and exit from the University on this street.

Students cannot make a left turn off Dodge Street to enter the campus. However, they can turn right or left onto Dodge Street leaving the campus.

Dr. Bail said the new system was devised to ease the traffic jam on 62nd Street during the morning rush and on 60th Street after evening classes and program in the Administration building.

In the offing, Dr. Bail noted, Omaha U., in conjunction with the City Traffic Bureau, will widen the Happy Hollow Boulevard entrance to the University.

OU and Omaha will split the cost on this project.

The one-way street plan is the third project considered as a solution to the crowded traffic conditions at Omaha U.

Last year the City Traffic Engineer and City Planner suggested that an access road be built on the campus. This idea was rejected.

Another attempt to ease the problem was the banning of left turns off Dodge Street at the 60th Street entrance and the removal of the traffic light. This plan is still in effect.

Open House Ends Founders' Day Sun

An approximate 1500 persons attended the Omaha University Open House Sunday. Open House was the climax of the University's Founder's Day activities.

Families of OU students and residents of Omaha toured the campus from 2-5 p.m. All departments were open and faculty personnel were on hand to explain their duties.

Where Is the Victory Bell?

By Roger Brown

"Who stole the ding dong?"
"Who stole the bell?"
"Somebody had stole the VICTORY BELL!"

The disappearance of the Victory Bell has caused quite a fervor on campus recently, especially among the TEKE'S.

The bell was originally purchased from the Union Pacific Railroad for $150 by the 1955 senior class who in turn presented it to Omaha University.

In an informal agreement with the University, the TEKE'S were to be custodians of the bell and were to have it present at all home games as well as in parades. The bell was never to leave the campus other than for the parades without the consent of University officials.

The bell has become a familiar sight to OU fans. Its presence is even felt by those who tune in on the KBON broadcasts of the Indian games. Its clamorous vibrations usually start the cheering as a speedy Indian crosses the goal and its strains are usually the last to be heard as a victorious Indian team leaves the field.

There is a danger, however, that the gleaming brass symbol won't be carted around the University track by the little, peppy sports car at the Homecoming game.

That is, it won't be present unless the bell has become a toy to be bandied about by the various Greek organizations on campus and paraded triumphantly at games as a symbol of the particular fraternity's ability to skulk about taking that which doesn't belong to them.

Among the clutter of coffee cups in the Ouampi Room, rumors are being circulated that Pi Kaps have possession of the bell and are having it engraved with their fraternity "coat of arms." If this is true, what worthy campus organization will do the honors next year and the year after?

Dean of Student Personnel Donald Pflasterer said, "The bell was removed from the campus without permission and if it is not returned by the day of the Homecoming game further action will be taken to recover it."

It would be nice if the bell would be present for this morning's pep rally.

Team Send-off Today at 8:30 A.M.

By Sue Kelley

All students who do not have 8:30 classes this morning are urged to attend the send-off rally for our football team at 8:30 in the parking lot south of the Fieldhouse.

The Indians are leaving then for their first game against Fort Hays State in Fort Hays, Kansas. This is their first game since the loss to Colorado Mines on September 30 and this demonstration of support will send them off in a "win or bust" spirit.

This year, if ever, home support is needed to get the Indians back on the winning streak in which they started the season. Coach

Al Caniglia said, "The coaches and team are very thankful for the support shown this year. It is much appreciated and if continued will help us make this one of the better years in recent times."

All campus organizations which can insure a rousing rally have pledged their support. Band director, Jack Malik, has promised to furnish some music and the Indians, cheerleaders and Interpex will be on hand.

The GATEWAY, which is sponsoring this rally, is doing so for the benefit of the team and the student body in the hope that together these two factions can make this a football year to remember.

2500 Hear Ford On Founders Day

By Shirley Johnson

To succumb to a better-Red-than-dead feeling "would be contemptible and thus immoral," reported Michigan Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr., to an audience of 2,500 at the Founders Day program, Oct. 6.

As the major speaker at the celebration which was held in the Stadium, Mr. Ford followed 25 others to the platform during a three-hour program which began at 10 a.m. A ranking member of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, he spoke on "Our Responsibility for the Defense of the Nation."

The welcoming speeches given before Mr. Ford's traced the origin of the University to its present progress and on to future accomplishments.

The first speaker, Archbishop Gerald Bergan, introduced himself as "the man who lives next door" and commended the students on a fine football team. He said, "This is the first time I am able to go down Dodge Street without hanging my head." On the serious side, he said that one of the most important things to be gained from an education is love for your neighbors.

Immediately after the marathon program, 13 serving stations fed 2,388 students, faculty and guests.

Winners of the poster contest were Lambda Chi Alpha, first; Pi Kappa Alpha, second and Zeta Tau Alpha, third. The judges for the poster contest included Dean Kirk Naylor, Burt Kurth and Donald Pullen.

First place in the banner contest went to Sigma Phi Epsilon; second place, Tau Kappa Epsilon; and third place, Pi Kappa Alpha. Harold Sundshoe, Frank Grasso and Robert Schiller were judges for this contest.

According to Dr. Milo Bail, there has been no decision as to whether next year's Founders Day celebration will be similar to this year's program. Dr. Bail also wishes to thank all the students who participated in making this year's event a successful one.

UCS Drive Ends Today

Omaha University students will have until noon today to contribute to the United Community Service drive.

The winners of the "Cutest Pan" and "Ugliest Man" contest will be announced at a dance at 3-5 p.m. today in the Student Center ballroom. The total amount collected will also be announced. The contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity as part of the all-school UCS drive.

A booth in the Student Center serves as voting headquarters. One penny given to the candidate of your choice counts as one vote. The candidates with the most "votes" win.

10 Candidates Running
Running for "Cutest Pan" are Stephanie Dragoun, Alpha Xi Delta; Judy Sullivan, Chi Omega; Anita Lee, Independent Students; Gail Browning, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Milda Marcus, Sigma Kappa. Gary Davis, ISA; Mel Cunningham, Lambda Chi Alpha; Arlo Grafton, Pi Kappa Alpha; Roger Moore, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Dennis Madigan, Tau Kappa Epsilon, are candidates for "Ugliest Man."

Beyond—30—

By Ken Zimmerman

Some sweet young thing—we'll never know who she is—won't be the Theta Chi Sweater Girl this year.

And some spirited group has lost its chance to claim the laurels of the Ox Olympics.

Why?

Because Theta Chi fraternity is being indefinitely chastised for its unfortunate antics preceeding the 1961 Ma-le Day parade. And if you don't recall the particulars of that fiasco, check with a Teke.

For all practical purposes, the group has been banned from campus social life and, as a fraternity, almost fatally blackballed from rush activities.

It's a severe punishment and the degree to which justice has been administered has been cussed and discussed (with the former currently in the majority) widely.

Loudest among the complain-ers are those who feel the entire Greek community at OU is being punished, that every fraternity and sorority member has felt the sting of Theta Chi's wrist-slapping.

Judging by the crescendo which this talk has reached, there must be something to it. It must be assumed that the Pi Kaps, the Chi O's, the Lambda Chi's and the Zeta's and every other Greek organization are suffering enough to complain about it.

Which, in deference to all concerned, calls for another look at the case.

I think most will agree that, from the start, the whole thing was blown far out of proportion. From bad press to ugly rumors—not to mention some perhaps over-ambitious policemen—the affair became quite sensational.

For the most part, however, it subsided over the summer. But then came Rush Week and the conspicuous absence of Theta Chi produced some embarrassing explanations the talk renewed.

Now, with the fall social season launched, and two of the traditional highlights lacking, the incident is rising to conversational prominence once again.

Granted, some missteps were taken and disciplinary action was called for. Certainly it was necessary for the administration to assert its doctrine that Greeks exist only so long as they conduct themselves in the best interests of the University.

But let us neither forget that justice must be proportionate.

In the cold light of reality, the float-building "beer-bust" just wasn't the bacchanalia attributed to it.

The severity with which Theta Chi fraternity has been dealt leaves me wondering just what sort of punishment would be invoked when a group does something really bad.

Advisor Named

The Reverend Charles Mur-nan, Jr., pastor of the Pilgrim Lutheran Church in Omaha, was named contact Pastor of the Lutheran Student Association at Omaha University Wednesday by the University Division of the National Lutheran Council.

His duties, mostly in an advisory capacity, will consist of counseling LSA members in off-campus religious pursuits. He is a 1955 OU graduate.

Because of inadequate salaries 38 per cent of men teachers who are married have to take non-school jobs during the year or during the vacation period. For the same reason, 30 per cent have part-time jobs. So reports the National Education Association of the United States.

Two School Years Could Be Skipped

An educator suggested recently that superior students—those in the top 15 to 20 percent—might be able to complete their schooling in 10 years instead of the time-honored 12 . . . and thus save the taxpayers some money that could then be spent on superior teachers.

Director of the Research Division of the National Education Association, Sam M. Lambert, noted at a recent conference that for as long as he could remember, most schools have held the concept that it should take 12 years to move children from the ABC's through Chaucer. This is the way, he says, "we organized back at the turn of the century and we haven't changed very much."

He explained that five percent of our first graders are bright enough to get through school in 10 years instead of 12. The first grade enrollment in 1959-60 was a little over 3.7 million children. Five percent of that is 185,000. Two years less time for them at present costs per pupil would save 163½ million dollars.

Lambert said he would use that money to get superior teachers—teachers with master's certificates

Senior Cadets Learn to Fly

Omaha University's AF-ROTC is sponsoring a Flight Instruction Program. Five senior cadets will be flying in the 36½ hour course.

Those receiving this pre-flight training are: Cadet Colonel James Baber, Jr., and Cadet Captains John Baker, Robert Hohman, Michael Richardson and Allen Taylor.

The AF-ROTC department contracted the Sky Harbor Air Service at Epply Field to conduct this program. The cadets will have 16½ hours of flying with an instructor and do 20-hours of solo flying.

This pre-flight program will enable the Air Force to determine if the cadets are adapted to flying and save placement problems when they enter the service.

Omaha University is a member of the National Association Intercollegiate Athletics and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

'Grain of Sand' Deadline Near

Submissions for "Grain of Sand," student literary magazine, are now being accepted. Deadline for manuscripts is October 25.

Short stories or prose under 2,000 words and poetry under 40 lines will be given preference, but the limitations are not binding.

The editorial board of the publication for fall semester consists of Jean Hornish, chairman, and Vernon Barnett, John Byrne, Ann Pence and Steve Schicker.

Any of these will accept manuscripts, or submissions may be made through the office of Dr. Ralph Wardle, English department head.

Zeta Tau Alpha Tea To Be Held Sunday

They spent $150 for signs to tell us how to get our cars to the campus, but not one cent to tell us what to do with them when we get them here.

It would be nice if OU would put on another program which would have the student body facing west. This would finish off the rest of the tan we received Founders Day.

There's two things that can really brighten a student's day on Monday morning. Either OU won another game, or he found a parking place.

Ocean Trips Under Canvas 'Are Fun'

By Fran Campbell

Both primitive and modern methods of transportation are familiar to Omaha University bootstrapper, Air Force Lt. Robert Crisp.

In 1955, as a crew member of the "Eagle," a 327-foot, three-masted, square-rigged barque, Lieutenant Crisp, then in the Coast Guard, crossed the Atlantic under sail as part of his cadet training. The voyage took 24 days.

Recently as a crew member of a B-52 bomber, Lieutenant Crisp, now an Air Force career officer, covered a comparable distance in only five hours, flying at altitudes of over 40,000 feet.

A school of whales encountered in the North Atlantic caused the 250-man crew to alter its course, giving the spouting, dangerously-large animals a wide berth.

The return voyage from Funchal, Madeira Islands, was made in only 22 days. The complete trip included stops in Scotland, France and Portugal.

"Being at sea under sail is a great thrill," Lieutenant Crisp reminisced.

"Climbing 150 feet aloft to work the sails was the most outstanding part of the excursion," he added.

Perched high on the rigging, Lieutenant Crisp and his fellow cadets fought strong winds as they struggled to keep their balance and still leave both hands free to trim the sails.

"The sailing on this voyage was smooth compared to that of other voyages I have made," Lieutenant Crisp commented.

Lieutenant Crisp was aboard the "Eagle" in 1954 when it was caught in the eye of Hurricane Carol 500 miles off the coast of Bermuda.

The small craft was tossed about like a mere toy as waves nearly as high as the main mast broke over it. Work on the part of the crew kept the vessel from capsizing.

According to Lieutenant Crisp, the winds were so high that the straining masts could only support six of the 22 sails.

He is one of the 2,000 men to complete the trans-Atlantic crossing in modern times.

After graduation, Lieutenant Crisp plans to return to active duty as an Electronic Warfare Officer.

Difference Twixt 'Doubles' Vast

By Rusty Harmisen

I checked my pencil holder again to make sure it was loaded, turned up the collar on my London Fog and headed down the hall.

She came at me like an art major leaving an Economics class. She was tall, blonde; my type.

Her eyes took on that familiar soft pleading look. She batted an eyelash and says "Is it too late to get a seat in your class Mr. Larson?"

Seat, class, Larson? Like I don't dig it. But I answer "sure baby with your class you can have a seat by me any time." Well; it was an answer.

Another screwy dame? Probably, there's a lot of them out here this year (any year)? But I wonder. Lots of screwy things happening lately. Greetings from Profs who usually just give me a sneer with my F-papers. Bootstrappers (they must be, they had briefcases) asking me where Upper Lombasia is, cheeeee!

I'm bugged. All is not A.O.K. What's the angle. Everything's got to have an angle. I ain't (it's got Webster's OK now) no dummy.

I ask around. Talk to my contact. He comes thru for me. He gets around, hears a lot. Window washer for the Admin building.

Tells me I got a double. Double?

"Yeh" he says "name's Harmisen, student, real idiot." "What" I say "You sap, I'm Harmisen."

"Oh" he says, "well, you got a double too, so don't get excited, name's Larson, mapmaker."

"Thanks," I say. "That's what I like, people that remember me."

I wander back to the Gateway. Assume my pseudonym as a reporter.

Call Larson. Get appointment. We meet. Exchange pleasantries. Take picture.

Get interview. Q. "Were you aware that you had a double?"

A. "Yes, several teachers told me they had a student who resembled me."

(That's rich. I think he resembles me.)

Q. "You teach map coloring, huh?"

A. "No, Geography."

Q. "Qualified I suppose (huh)."

A. "Well, I received my Master's from Nebraska and just have to finish my dissertation for my P.H.D."

(So I asked. He told me. He's qualified.)

"Thanks," I say, "Hope things don't get too confused."

"Oh," a light flashes, "by the way, do you know a blonde..."

I'll wear light...

'Green Men' Are Initiates

The OU campus has been invaded by little green men!

They run around early each morning, jumping against walls and shouting in an uninterpretable language ending with the English word, "sir."

This is initiation week for prospective members of the Arnold Air Society. Seventeen juniors are "tigers" and are at the mercy of the seniors.

These tigers present an unmistakable group image. The baseball cap and sun glasses create mysticism; the white scarves at the neck and tennis shoes add "class" to the fatigues.

Calisthenics, quality and quantity, are designated at the whim of the ruling seniors. But they are only the first part of a good "tiger's" training. Hitting the deck air raides, duck walking, sounding like an airplane and being an expert on bail-out procedures make him well-rounded.

Hitting the deck consists of diving to the floor and sliding as far as possible. After a sufficient number of "tigers" have hit the deck—when there is no more room on the floor—an "air raid" is called. All remaining "tigers" join the pile.

The field problem is planned for Saturday night, but the details are "hush, hush."

You wear dark...

Part-time Jobs Are Available

By Carl Schreiner

The student's quest for part and full time jobs, although not hopeless, isn't the easy task it has been in past years.

This is best illustrated by a shrunken list of available job opportunities in the Student Placement office on the second floor of the Administration building.

For students seeking the "higher paying" jobs which may offer opportunities after graduation the emphasis is on skills, specialties and jobs requiring experience.

William Gerbracht, head of Student Placement, offered this advice to job hunters: "Don't be afraid to take a lower wage if the job fits the plans you've made for the future."

He emphasized the necessity for experience and some of the steps necessary to acquire it.

—Know the field your in and know the job opportunities for experienced personnel in that field. "For every call we get for a skilled job we have a hundred openings in unskilled jobs," Gerbracht said.

—"Have confidence in your self so you can sell yourself and your skill to your employer," he added.

Gerbracht pointed out that, although the primary function of his office is to provide placement for graduates, a large list of jobs of all varieties is usually available for students.

OU Radio Station, KWOU Will Expand

By Paul Beavers

If you spin the dial of your radio across 880 kilocycles some time today, you just might hear the Omaha University campus radio station, KWOU.

Terry Forsberg, program director, told the Gateway this week that KWOU would "actually be on the air (today), if the transmitter is working."

There have been some problems, he said, in clearing up some of the "technical difficulties" in the "ultra-low power" transmitter.

So far, he said, "it has been a trial and error situation of getting the thing working."

Forsberg pointed out a standard radio should be able to pick up the KWOU signal anywhere on the campus from Dodge Street south to Elmwood Park.

The station is not licensed by the Federal Communications because of its low power, he explained.

Up until today at least, the KWOU programs are "piped" directly into the Student Center from 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. Monday through Friday.

"It is hoped," Forsberg said, "the broadcast day may be lengthened in the future."

"We need more people to work on the station," he said. "We hope to have a staff of about 20, but we can use more," he added.

Forsberg said anyone who wants to work will be "given something to do."

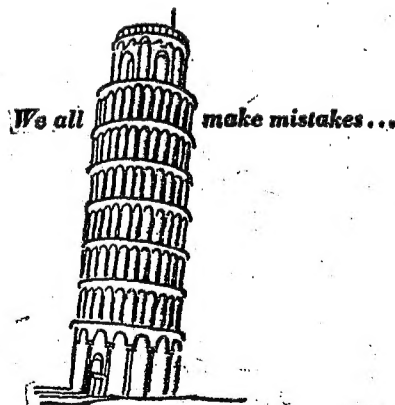

Auditions were held this week for booth announcers, disc jockeys and radio newsmen.

Eleven students auditioned Tuesday and more were expected for the second half of the try-outs Wednesday, he said.

"We are always looking for talent," he said.

Typical Frosh Election Set for Oct. 18

The Typical Freshman election has been set for Oct. 18 and all Greek organizations and the Independent Student Association have announced their candidates.

Candidates for Typical Freshman girl are Virginia Bohaty, Alpha Xi Delta; Kathy Bowman, Chi Omega; Felicia McGargill, Sigma Kappa; Marilyn Thur, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Virginia Colombo from the ISA.

In the masculine side of the contest, the candidates are Gary Rogers, Tau Kappa Epsilon; John Stolley, Lambda Chi Alpha; Mike Moore, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Charles Saxon, Phi Kappa Alpha, and Tom Fraiser, ISA.

Last year's winners Malanie Jeub, Zeta Tau Alpha and Ken Allen, Phi Kappa Alpha, will be on hand at the announcement of the winners to crown the new royalty.

The announcement will be made at a dance on the 18th from 4-5:30 in the Student Center Ballroom.

Voting will take place, for all freshmen during the day in the student organizations room on the second floor of the Student Center.

Freshmen, these are your candidates for Typical Freshman! Wednesday on the second floor of the Student Union is the place to vote. You may mark the ballot once for either Charles Saxon, Pi Kappa Alpha; Mike Moore, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Gary Rogers, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Tom Fraiser, Independent Students Associations; or John Stolley, Lambda Chi Alpha. John is not pictured. Cast one vote for any of the following girl students: Virginia Colombo, Independent Students Associations; Virginia Bohaty, Alpha Xi Delta; Kathy Bowman, Chi Omega; Marilyn Thur, Zeta Tau Alpha; Felicia McGargill, Sigma Kappa.

Frats Pledge Late Rushees

Thirty-nine men pledged during late rush. Late rushees were not required to go through formal rush which took place during the first week of school.

Rushees were required to sign the preference list in Dean Curt Seimer's office and pay a late rush fee of $3. Rushees were accompanied by one active member of the fraternity they wished to pledge and one officer of that fraternity.

The following are late pledges:

Lambda Chi Alpha: Frank Haney, James Kulin, Jack Mielke, Kenneth Ragge, Milo Samson and Richard Steele.

Pi Kappa Alpha: Jim Alessandro, Ron Barta, Jim Cramer, Tom Cover, Bill Gilmore, Dennis Monaghan, Dennis Owens, Jim Robertson and Ward Schumaker.

Sigma Phi Epsilon: Jack Benedick, Danny Bernte, Neil Gallo-way, Duane Mannon and Edward Stanek.

Tau Kappa Epsilon: Dale Ahlquist, Randall Anderson, Gary Bates, Steve Cenk, Phil Closky, Joson Goziah, Ronald Cutton, Ronnie Migline, Jeff Legaard, Rich Less, Kent Looby, Richard Russell, Fred Scarpello, Joe Sokol, Glenn Wehrer, Bruce Will, Mike Whitney and Henry Zyck.

Theta Chi: Jon Burgeson.

Alpha Lambda Delta Hosts Freshmen Tea

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, is planning a tea Oct. 29, for incoming freshman women who rank high scholastically. It will be held at the home of Dean Elizabeth Hill.

Five Parties Scheduled

Exchange parties between fraternities and sororities on campus fill the social calendar for the fall semester. Five functions are scheduled for the next two weeks.

Pi Kappa Alpha and Zeta Tau Alpha will hold an exchange party tonight at Hill Haven Barn from 9 to 12.

A spook party will be the theme of the Sigma Phi Epsilon-Chi Omega function tonight from 8 to 12 at Tietz's Barn.

The first New Year's Eve party for next year will be given Saturday night at the Swedish Auditorium by Lambda Chi Alpha and the nurses for Immanuel Hospital. The hours are from 7:30 p.m. to 12 p.m.

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Kappa will "go Hollywood" at their function Saturday night from 7:30 to 12 at the Benson Park Pavilion.

A Lambda Chi Alpha-Zeta Tau Alpha pre-Halloween exchange party will be given in the Polish Home October 20 from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m.

Orchasis Selects Six New Members

Tryouts for Orchasis, the modern dance honorary, was held Oct. 10 in the West Quonset.

The following girls were selected for membership: Midge Butters, Donna Filipowski, Linda Hill, Karen Kleider, Nancy Norton and Judy Rinschen. The new members were notified of their acceptance by mail Oct. 12.

The next time of business is planning the concert to be held in the University Theater Dec. 1 and 2.

Nancy Norton Now Playing In Omaha Stage Production

A's seem to b Nancy Norton's specialty—Art, Acrobatics, and grade A work.

Nancy, a sophomore at Omaha University, is presently showing off her dancing ability in the stage production of "Pajama Game" playing at the Omaha Community Playhouse.

In the stage show Nancy appears in three numbers. Besides dancing in the chorus, she is featured in "Steam Heat" along with Beth Gaines, a jazz choreographer, and Annabel Timms, a one-time professional dancer before she married.

Arnie Weiner, a senior at OU, and Bill Wakefield, a freshman, also are included in the cast. Arnie is in the dancing chorus, and Bill fills in an the drums on Saturday night for Fred Ebner, the regular drummer.

The play, which has run since September 21, ends Saturday night.

Nancy, who is an art major, plans to attend an art school in the East for additional training after graduation.

Angels Serve OU Campus

Under the auspices of the Arnold Air Society, a group of Omaha University coeds formed an organization ten years ago that today is spread throughout the nation.

Angels' Flight, the name designated by AAS, now has 40 members on the OU campus. The objectives of this honorary organization are to advance and promote interest in the Air Force, to obtain information concerning the military services and to aid the progress of the Arnold Air Society.

Angels also usher at OU events, sponsor the Marching Angels and Angelaires, assist the ROTC department, promote and work with the AAS on the annual "Toys for Tots" Dance and the Military Ball and have social functions with the men of Arnold Air Society.

The officers of Angels' Flight, elected each spring, are Flight Leader, Pat VanVoorhis; Operations Officer, Dianne Barker; Adjutant-Recorder, Georgia Clark; Comptroller, Midge Butters; Public Relations Officer, Susie Shepherd; Public Information Officer, Pam Stronberg and Historian, Barb Blair.

Uniform of the Angels' Flight is an Air Force skirt and cap, sweater and white cape. Rank is given according to merit with the Flight Leader receiving the rank of Lt. Colonel and officers the rank of major. Members may earn the rank of first and second lieutenant and captain. Membership is earned through grade point, school activities and approval by the executive councils of Arnold Air Society and Angels' Flight.

Campus sponsor is Mrs. Joseph Davis.

Steve Cochran and Crew Set Season High in OU Intramural Bowling League

Bowling

Steve Cochran and his teammates, The Crew, smashed all previous highs for this year in intramural bowling Wednesday night at the West Lanes.

Cochran broke Al Kirk's previous high game of 237 with a 244 and Arlo Grafton's high series of 593 with a 622.

The Crew, led by Cochran, and leading the intramural league, posted the season's high team game and series with an 812 and 2146 respectively.

The Lams moved into second place with Lambda Chi dropping to third.

The TKE's are currently leading the interfraternity race with six points. The Pi Kaps, Sig Eps and Lambda Chi's are tied for second with two points.

Football

The Zeke Moe Joes and Sig Eps continued their winning ways and now lead the intramural flag football league with 3-0 records.

TKE's are second with a 2-0 record and the Joy Boys are third at 2-1.

Four-Mile Relay

The intramural four-mile relay race will be October 27 on the University track at 4 p.m.

Entries should be in the intramural office, Room 240 of the Administration Building, by next Friday, October 20.

Hockey Open to OU Students

An Amateur hockey league has been formed in which Omaha University students may take part.

All OU students interested in playing in the newly formed loop should send in their applications immediately so that teams can be formed.

Interested persons may send their names to Gary Sindelar at 5918 Pierce. Sindelar expressed the wish that applications be made by mail and not by phone.

The prospective players must also furnish their own equipment such as pads, gloves and skates.

Sports Notice

Women entered in the WRA tennis doubles competition are reminded that games in the first round must be played by Oct. 18th.

All girls interested in the Girls Rifle Club are urged to practice on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 in the morning or from 9:30 to 11:30 on Thursday mornings.

WRA Program In High Gear

The Women's Recreation Association has swung its program into high gear again this year with its various activities for college women.

The WRA softball schedule opened last week with Chi Omega and Unaffiliated ending in a tie on Tuesday, Oct. 3. The following evening Sigma Kappa defeated Zeta Tau Alpha while Alpha Xi Delta received a bye for the week.

Next week Zeta Tau Alpha will take their turn in the bye column. Alpha Xi Delta will face Chi Omega on Wednesday, October 18, and Sigma Kappa will meet Unaffiliated on Thursday, Oct. 19.

Standings in the league as of October 5 find Sigma Kappa in first place with one win and Unaffiliated and Chi Omega tied for second. Alpha Xi Delta is in fourth place.

Emporia State Harriers Foe

Omaha University cross country runners run up against Emporia State tomorrow at Emporia. Coach Ernie Gorr, displeased with the number out for cross country, is still seeking candidates.

The Indian harriers lost to Doane on the Elmwood Park course yesterday. Gene Somer, OU's leading runner, placed sixth. Nick Dixon and Dick Burrows were the other OU runners.

The meet scheduled last Tuesday with Simpson has been rescheduled for Nov. 1. Rain had forced the postponement.

Gorr said that his squad is now at a low ebb.

"There should be more interested people in the sport," he said.

Indians Third Against Non-Conference Foes

Omaha University with a two-one grid record goes into the Central Intercollegiate Conference action trailing Pittsburg and Washburn in the won-lost column.

The Gorillas from Pittsburg are undefeated in four games while Washburn has won three and lost one.

The Indians are also third in total points.

As far as the overall season records are concerned, they will be forgotten as the CIC action starts tonight and tomorrow.

This week's games: *Washburn at Emporia State; Omaha U. at Fort Hays; St. Benedict's at Pittsburg.
*Game tonight.

Three Grid Veterans Start Last Year of CIC Action

Three linemen who have been around a long time have seen Omaha University's football fortunes rise to the highest peak this year. They will be tasting their last CIC grid action this year.

These performers haven't seen many wins but have played a lot of good ball for the Indians and can be picked out as having done yeoman jobs while at the University.

Jim Howard, a survivor of the 1958 squad that lost eight humiliating games, is one of the few players to last out four years here.

Jim didn't see much action that first year but has come along since then lettering in football once and in wrestling three times.

Taylor . . . Howard

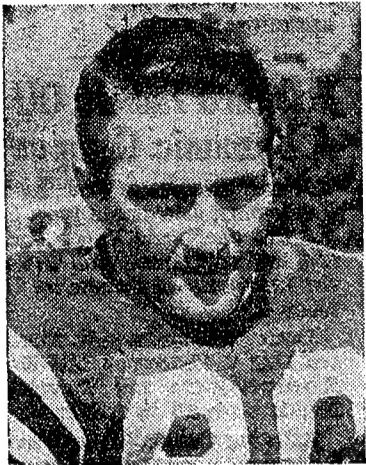

Another four year vet is Al Taylor. The senior guard is seeking his third letter this year.

The South grad lettered as a freshman, failed to do so as a sophomore, and again lettered last year.

In addition to his grid duties, Al also presides over the student council and is a Cadet Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force ROTC on campus.

Art Ferguson, another "tough guy" up front has lettered twice since transferring from Midland.

He came to OU in time for spring ball in 1959, after playing one season at Midland.

Ferguson . . . transfer.

There will be table tennis tables set up in the Women's P. E. Quonset for those who would be interested in using them for regular play.

The quonset will be open on Monday nights from 7-10.

Tournament play will begin in February.

Pen & Sword Elects Fall Junior Officers

Monday the Pen and Sword Society held an election of junior officers. These officers will serve as junior members of the organization's executive board until January, at which time they will assume the duties of departing senior officers.

Those elected were: Vice-President, Norm Allen; Treasurer, Melvin Jeffords; Administrative Secretary, Byron Gill; Social Secretary, Dan Buono; Special Activities Secretary, Hank Miller; Public Relations Officer, Lowell Aumundson.

UCS Drive . . .

Last year's winners were Lyle McFarland, Lambda Chi, and Mary Ellen Gundry, ZTA. Last year's total collection was $865.52.

Part of the money collected in the contest this year will go to help universities throughout the world.

Money Goes to UCS

Alpha Phi Omega will donate 25 percent of the money to the World University Service, WUS, sponsored by the students and faculty of forty different countries, is an organization which helps provide the material wants of needy university communities throughout the world.

The WUS was founded in 1920 by leaders of the World Student Christian Federation to provide relief for war-torn European universities.

Their program now includes university communities of the Middle East, Southeast Asia, the Far East, Africa and Latin America.

First CIC Grid Foe Is Fort Hays

Omaha University's grid squad meets Fort Hays State in its Central Intercollegiate Conference opener tomorrow night. The Indians have had two weeks rest to prepare for the CIC contest.

Injuries to key individuals have healed but others have added misery to Coach Al Caniglia's fortunes.

First string Quarterback Carl Meyers and fullback Wayne Backes should be ready for the conference opener.

The Indians, though, will be without end Jim Kettle. Kettle has been lost for the season. He was the third leading pass receiver on the club.

Quarterback Kenny Allen again will have to wait to see action because of a knee injury.

He reinjured the knee this week after recovering from the pre-season injury that had kept him out of the first three games. Bob "Lucky" Evans, 238-pound tackle, will also be held out of action this week. He has a broken hand.

While the Indians were resting this past week, the Kansans were doing battle with Eastern New Mexico. The two teams fought to a 19-19 tie.

Fort Hays in the first three games previous to the New Mexico game won one and lost two. The Tigers only win came at the expense of Kearney State Teachers here in Nebraska.

The Indians after two consecutive cellar finishes have been labeled by CIC mentors as the dark horse in the loop.

Incidentally, since joining the conference in 1959, the Indians have tied Fort Hays for the loop cellar each year.

All CIC clubs start action this week.

WRA Sponsors a Variety of Events

In addition to encouraging interest and participation in women's intramurals and athletics, the Women's Recreation Association sponsors a variety of special interest clubs.

Orchosis, the honorary dance club for men and women, has just held tryouts and chosen new members. The annual concert to be held in October is the highlight of the year. The club also sponsors dance clinics for high school students.

The dual purpose of the Rifle Club is to provide training in the efficiency of operation and care of the .22 caliber rifle as well as forward the development of honesty, good fellowship, team play and self reliance which are the essentials of good sportsmanship. The group plays a match with the men's Rifle Club the last of October. Matches with the University of Nebraska, North Dakota State, Iowa University and North High School are tentatively planned.

The Water Sports Club will meet October 23 at 7:00 p. m. at the Jewish Community Center. The organization plans other outside activities such as snow skiing and picnics.

A trampoline club is in the process of being added to the list of WRA sponsored clubs. Interested students can sign up in the women's quonset hut.

Women are encouraged to join any of the clubs which interest them, even if they are not proficient in any of the sports.

Physical Education instructor Joan Jorgensen said, "This year we are requiring health examinations by the school physician. These must be in by November 1 or the individual will not be able to take part in WRA activities."

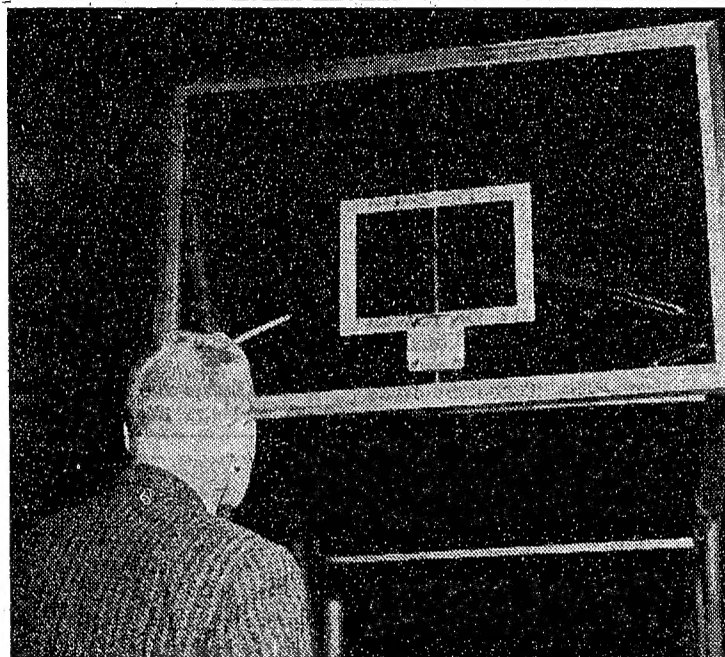

Late Hour Causes Bus Cancellation

The bus which had been rented to ferry Omaha University faculty members to the Emporia, Kans., game next weekend has been cancelled due to the late hour of return.

Mrs. Dorothy Willie of Personnel Administration, who had been taking names of interested faculty members, said the bus would have left at noon and not returned until 3 a. m. Sunday morning. "Faculty with younger children immediately lost interest because of the late hours," said Mrs. Willie.

Mrs. Willie said that six carloads of faculty members are driving to the Emporia game.

The band, Indians and cheerleaders will go to Emporia, however. Those who wish to attend the game may pick up tickets in the Athletic Office in the Field House. The ticket cost per person is 75 cents.

Who is the gent looking at the almost completed backboard in the OU fieldhouse? Maybe it's Head Basketball Coach Jim Borsheim pondering how many points his 1961-62 Indian basketballers will pour through the hoop that is yet to be put up.

Could it be that he's trying to figure a way to make it easier for the home team to score or maybe he's thinking of making the hoop a little bigger.

If he is he had better make up his mind soon as the Indian cagers start formal workouts Monday. Some have been working out on their own the past few days running and shooting baskets in the Women's P.E. hut.

Festivities Set For Gridders

Students won't be alone in celebrating OU's 50th football anniversary. The OU Alumni Association also has big plans for Homecoming Week.

On Friday night, October 27, the Association will honor more than 500 former football players at a banquet in the Student Center. Speaker will be long time pro-footballer Herman Rhorig. Reservations are two dollars.

Then Saturday before the game, the Alums will have an open house in the Student Center from noon until 1:30. At 2 p. m., the grads will turn out for the OU-St. Benedict game in the OU stadium. Alums can get game tickets at the gate by sending $1.50 to the Alumni office.

And after the game, win or lose, the Alums will have a Pow-Wow party at the Ranch Bowl from 6 p. m. to midnight. Dancing and entertainment will follow the buffet dinner. Tickets are two dollars each for the entire evening.

All reservations must be made by October 24.

'Cinema' Presents Film Masterpiece

The third presentation of the University Cinema will be a French film, "The Red and the Black," which will be shown October 16 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Conference Center.

Starring Gerard Philipe and Danielle Darrieux, the film is based on a novel of literary classic by Stendahl.

Hailed as one of the all-time masterpieces of the French cinema, it has won the acclaim of American reviewers.

Campus Candidates To Campaign Tues.

Candidates for campus offices will have a chance to do some real campaigning next Tuesday.

Dr. Aldrich Paul invites the candidates or a representative to attend the Open Forum at 11:30 in Alcoe's "C" and "D" of the Cafeteria in the Student Activities Building.

Each will have two minutes to explain why he wants the office, and afterwards questions will be asked by those attending the Forum.

The University of Omaha dates back to the year 1909.

Readers' Theater Tryouts Planned

Any student who has interest and ability in drama and can accept responsibility is invited to try out next week for two of the Reader's Theater productions—"Really The Blues" by Mezz Mezzrow and "Anything Can Happen" by George and Helen Papashirey.

Try-outs will be held Oct. 16 in Room 307 of the Administration building at 3:30 p. m.; Oct. 17 and 19 in Rm. 110 of the Adm. at 1:30 p. m.; otherwise, by appointment.

Reader's Theater is a program for "people who find drama without costumes and scenery—that is, the drama of the mind—the most intriguing sort," said Mr. Gore, director of the Theater.

Mr. Gore said that the Theater also enables students who aren't able to participate in full drama productions to participate on a smaller scale.

The Reader's Theater productions will alternate with the Student Forum programs held at 11:30 a. m. on Tuesdays.

Other plans include a scene from Dylan Thomas's "The Doctor and the Devils," a movie script based on the Burke and Hare murder cases involving body snatching for medical cadavers, and Virginia Woolf's, Mrs. Dalloway.

Founders Day Not All 'Roses'

By Shirley Johnson

Along with all the planning and preparation that goes into a large-scale production such as Founders Day, there comes a few unusual predicaments, mammoth purchases and one or two casualties.

The Food Services department, for example, began preparing for the barbecue on Monday before the celebration. They purchased 600 pounds of beef, 3,000 buns, 150 gallons of coffee, 200 pounds of carrots, 150 gallons of pork and beans, eight cases of celery sticks, and 3,000 cupcakes; and enlisted the services of football, basketball, and track athletes.

One of the unavoidable predicaments of the day was the wind which attempted to destroy new hairdos, the drum section of the band, and the microphone on the platform. The last problem was solved by tying a handkerchief around to steady it against the undying force.

A pre-program hazard was a colony of bees swarming about the stadium, but the pesty insects were inactive during the program to everyone's relief except Band Director Jack Malik. Mr. Malik received the only major injury of the day—a bee sting.

The only other casualties of the day were sunburns, which spectators sported on the right half of their faces, and mild cases of "sitis."

Experts to Speak On Space Probes

"The Conquest of Space" in simple non-technical terms will be discussed by Willey Ley next Friday at 8 p. m. at the third University Nights Lecture.

Mr. Ley, who has a world-wide reputation as an expert on rockets, missiles and space travel, will discuss medical and legal aspects of space exploration and their effects on man's everyday life in the future.

Mr. Ley will also be the featured speaker at an "Outer Space Institute" which will start at 8 a. m. Saturday, October 21.

The theme for the Institute, which will be climaxed by a trip to the Omaha Planetarium, in the afternoon, will be "The Utilization of Nearby Outer Space."

The Conference fee is $3 and is not refundable after October 20. Registrations will be accepted by mail or on the day of the Conference.

Jaynes Featured At Legacy Series

The contributions of psychology to contemporary society will be the subject of speaker Dr. William Jaynes, chairman of the psychology department, at the October 19 session of the Legacy of Man series.

Dr. Jaynes, in a question-answer conference with Dr. Aldrich K. Paul, head of the speech department, will discuss the meaning of psychology and psychology as an academic discipline.

The main theme of the speech will center around the applied areas and an enlargement upon those areas—clinical, the use of techniques derived from learning experimentation; educational, teaching machines and prospects; and industrial, motivational research in the consumer field and the situational approach to leadership.

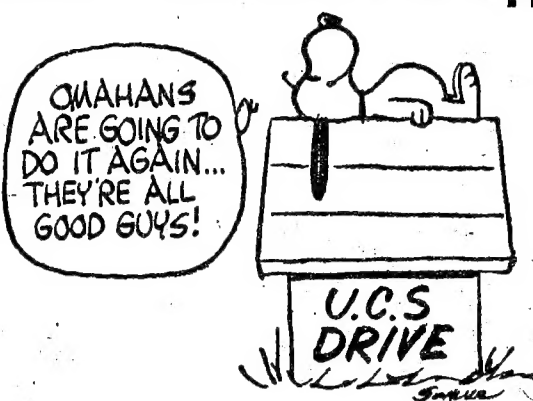

Fatemi, Baehr in Two Series Today

Dr. Nasrollah Fatemi and Rev. Karl Baehr will each make two appearances at Omaha University Friday, October 13.

The two speakers will be featured at the Middle East Institute from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. when Dr. Fatemi will present the background and conflicts of the Middle East and Dr. Baehr will speak about the potential and contemporary American policy.

The same evening at the University Nights series, Dr. Fatemi will discuss Muslim nationalism and together with Dr. Baehr will interpret "The Turbulent Near East."

UCS Contributions Give Local Support

By Tom Utts

Pennies, dimes or dollars—they are all needed and they all help. Give generously when you are approached on campus for a contribution to the United Community Service drive.

There are several campus activities which support the UCS and collect money for its 58 different Red Feather and Red Cross agencies.

One drive is for faculty and employees of the University. This is either a direct contribution or a payroll deduction.

The climax of the campus activities will be the Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man Contest October 13. Each social organization will be out collecting "votes" for its candidate.

The winners will be decided by the amount of money collected. Each penny donated counts as one vote.

Money donated to the UCS in Omaha is spent in Omaha. It supports such local organizations as:

—The Immanuel Home for the Aged and the Fontenelle Home for the Aged, two organizations that receive UCS help.

—The Omaha Urban League which promotes the elimination of racial prejudice and equal job opportunities. This organization receives 95 percent of its support from the UCS.

—The Family and Child Service of Omaha which gets nearly 100 percent of its support from UCS. This organization is a composite of four services: Family Service, Child Service, Travelers Aid and two nurseries for children of working parents.

—The Christ Child Society, an organization that provides Christian sponsored activities for school age children and also a summer day camp.

—The Visiting Nurses Association which makes over 30,000 calls a year and gets about 50 percent of its money from UCS.

These are only a few organizations that benefit from each "vote" cast in the OU Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man Contest. Be a good guy and give generously.

CAE to Exhibit Tel-Lecture

Omaha University's pioneering in the tel-lecture is finding "converts" on other campuses.

On October 16, President Milo Bail, Dean Donald Woods of the College of Adult Education and Michel Beilis, director of Conferences and Workshops, will be participants in a special tel-lecture set-up between Omaha U and the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison.

The purpose of the tel-lecture is to demonstrate to a group of extension workers at the Madison campus how the tel-lecture can be employed for effective and inexpensive educational communication.

Mr. Beilis won a Center for Study for Liberal Adult Education award for having created the tel-lecture idea and making it workable.

Packard Labels OU A Dynamic Campus

"Some campuses tend to be the dreamy, slow-paced type, but not this one," said Vance Packard, author-lecturer who was at the University of Omaha on October 6.

During Packard's visit, Founders' Day, the barbecue, Mid-West Bookreviewers and University Nights were all in full swing.

Labeling Omaha U the "most dynamic" campus he has been on, Packard said he sensed "the vitality that goes with growth and purpose" everywhere.
